PROBING continues around the outer rim of the giant Westlake reservoir as city officials are attempting to get to the bottom of damage caused by the March 22 earthquake.

The 1,600,000 gallon capacity tank was drained 10 days ago and engineering experts have been called in to gauge the damage and recommend the best methods to bring the reservoir up to permanent par. Above, Otis Calhoun, public works director, inspects excavation on east side of the plant being done by Dave Cafferata and Neil Pezola. Crack at extreme right was biggest visible following the quake. Problem is to locate damage below the ground, both inside and out.

Rush Plans For 2 More Hi Schools

On the eve of going on the state aid program, high school trustees Monday night continued their groundwork for the district's third and fourth high schools, both to be located within the city of Pacifica.

Architect Mario Ciampi presented first draft of his site utilization plan for the 50-acre site in Sharp Park, and the board heard a report on four suitable sites in the Linda Mar area for the fourth high school.

Funds for both schools will be provided by state aid, based on a five-year projection for sites and a four-year projection on building, determined by enrollment expectations and the state formula of the number of square feet allowable in each school per pupil.

Supt. Edward Morgan, his staff and trustees have been jockeying projected student assignment to Jefferson and Westmoor in order to get maximum space allowance and money for the Sharp Park and Linda Mar plants.

In Sacramento this week, the superintendent and Fred Goodell, district business manager, will attempt to finalize the justification documents for state aid by fixing final student school population figures with state officials.

Under the present plan, the district would assign 1592 students to Westmoor and 820 to ancient Jefferson when applying for funds on the two Coast schools.

Morgan believes the Jefferson assignment should be altered, since the 820 assignment at the inadequate plant leaves the district with excess square footage and therefore counts against eligibility for the Coast schools.

Trustees later this month will receive a report from structural engineers on the costs of rehabilitating or demolishing parts of Jefferson, a decision that also will affect student assignment and state eligibility.

Morgan said the district is standing pat on its Sharp Park site, working with the state division of highways on the latter's freeway plans. The district owns 48.8 acres east of the highway and expects to lose four acres fronting the highway to the freeway. The state is willing to reimburse the district for this parcel by handing over the same amount of acreage at the southern part of the school property.

Four sites recommended for the school in the Linda Mar area by Wiley & Ham engineers Monday night were: 1) The quarry adjacent to Coast (Continued on Page 2)

WESTLAKE ASKS TIGHTENING OF BUILDING RULES

The Westlake Improvement association will call on city fathers in the near future in an effort to stifle potential threats to the roomy suburban character of Westlake.

Andrew Baffico, director, has been named chairman of a committee which will meet with the city council and city attorney in an attempt to preserve the status quo of Westlake as far as building restrictions are concerned.

In some cases, the city building code is more elastic than tight restrictions laid down by the improvement association for protection of Westlake's uniformity. Some situations have arisen where Westlake property owners conform to city building code, but violate Westlake restrictions.

Baffico will meet jointly with city officials to discuss set back restrictions, front and side yard requirements and limitations on rear building extensions.

The Westlake directors especially seek to prevent additions at the sides of buildings, fearing that if adjacent home owners both build to their property lines, homes will no longer be detached.

Johnstone Reinstated; Evidence Held Hearsay

The firing of a Daly City police inspector, a move that resulted in recall action against three city councilmen in 1956, was reversed Thursday by the district court of appeal. The council will probably map its next move Monday night.

The court ruled unanimously that David Johnstone, 41, was dismissed from his inspector job in May, 1955, on "insufficient" evidence that was mostly "hearsay."

The firing of Johnstone by the council, prompted chiefly by a letter from District Attorney Keith Sorenson, had political repercussions that resulted in the attempted recall of three councilmen in 1956 may continue to haunt the same three officials when they come up for election this April.

Dismissal proceedings were started against Johnstone after Sorenson wrote a letter to Police Chief Roland Petrocchi stating that the district attorney's office would no longer permit Johnstone to work on investigation of bookmaking gambling, because of his alleged friendship with Dino Donati, described as a "known gambler."

After a series of hearings, the personnel board unanimously ruled that the evidence was not substantial enough to take any action against Johnstone. They were overruled by the council, however, in a 4-1 vote. Mayor Joseph Verducci, Councilmen Del Wilson, Sanford Vickers and Michael De Ber-nardi voted for Johnstone's dismissal, while Councilman Edward Dennis supported the popular police officer.

Subsequently, a recall attempt was made against Vickers, De Bernardi and Wilson. Among the charges was "complete disregard of the rights and wishes of the people," referring to the Johnstone firing.

Mayor Also Target

Verducci was also a target of the recall group, but his regular term expired in 1956, and an attempt was made to defeat him on the Johnstone issue and other charges listed in the recall.

The 1956 recall failed, but there still remains a strong nucleus of the original group that started the proceedings.

This same group is expected to play a major part in the coming municipal election, when terms of De Bernardi, Wilson and Vickers expire.

The district court, in overruling decision of Superior Judge Edmund Scott, who upheld the council's action, ordered Johnstone reinstated to his position with accrued salary from the date of his discharge, less any money earned by him since his "wrongful discharge."

Johnstone, elated over the district court ruling, said he did not know how much money, if any, the city would owe him, since he may have earned an equal or greater amount at his job for Ross Distributors, where he has worked as a truck driver since his dismissal.

"A Good Feeling"

"It's a good feeling to know you're cleared of these charges," said Johnstone, after a 2 1/2 years of legal battles protesting his innocence. His attorney throughout the case was Jack Fahey.

The city has 60 days from the time of the court order in which to decide if it wishes to ask a re-hearing by the district court.

A Big Legacy for 1958

Grand Jury Bows Out With Gusto

The 1957 San Mateo county grand jury bowed out this week after a year in which it practically stood the county administration on its ear with some revelations about government spending—chiefly in the county engineer's department.

With a 70-page report submitted to Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton, the jury summed up its findings, some of which may result in drastic changes in the budgeting and supervision of county funds.

After an audit, the jury learned that some $750,000 had been illegally spent in the county engineer's office. As a result, formal accusations of willful misconduct were filed against the county engineer, manager and board of supervisors. The charges were dismissed by Judge Cotton, but civil action against Grant to regain some of the funds illegally spent by him is pending.

Officials Careless
The court did, however, find that evidence showed the county officials had been careless in the supervision of expenditures.

Because of District Attorney Keith Sorenson's apparent reluctance to prosecute the county officials for the grand jury, the report urged that an office of county counselor be created.

"The jury did not feel that the district attorney had cooperated adequately," the report said, and added that during investigation of the accused officials he "did not display his usual vigor and eagerness."

A county counselor, the report recommends, would be able to act on behalf of the county officials in cases where they are accused, while the district attorney could handle the prosecution, instead of acting as both counselor to the board and prosecuting attorney at the same time.

The grand jury, while completing its appointive term, did agree to meet informally again in about six months—which would be just prior to the next county election.

"We just want to see what becomes of the things we have proposed," said Arthur Bodien, a member of the panel. "It's no encouragement to put in all this time and then see nothing done."

Judge Cotton, in his parting remarks to the jury Monday, commended them for a "wonderful job."

Among key recommendations in the 1957 grand jury report were:

1. The establishment of a permanent county jail farm.

2. Re-wording of the existing charter regarding employment of relatives by a county official. The jury felt nepotism was involved in the county agricultural commission's office, where five relatives of Commissioner Max Leonard were employed.

3. That traffic counts preceded all road work done by the county engineer's department.

4. That supervisory districts be reappointed according to population to give more equitable representation; that number of supervisors be increased from five to seven; that supervisors be elected by district, rather than at large.

5. That "bureaucratic tendencies" in the agricultural office be reduced with the cutting of the staff and budget.

6. That the possibility of receiving fire protection service from the state instead of by local districts be investigated.

7. That the county manager follow a stricter enforcement of inventory procedure.

Westmoor High Will Be Dedicated Sunday

Westmoor High School, a $3.5 million package and one of America's finest educational structures, will be dedicated this Sunday in official ceremonies followed by open house.

Festivities begin at 2 p.m. when the Westmoor band will offer three selections, "The Standby March," "Enchanted Canyon Overture," and the "Star Spangled Banner."

The Rev. H. B. Harkins, First Presbyterian Church of Pacifica, will deliver the invocation. Opening address to parents and the community will be made by Elio Fontana, chairman of the high school board of trustees.

Next on the podium will be Superintendent Edward Morgan, who will officially accept the school for the district. Westmoor's principal, Glenn South, and Buckley Hyers, student body president, then will speak on behalf of the faculty and students, respectively.

The Westmoor Choral Group will follow with two selections, "O Be Joyful" and "I Hear America Singing."

The Rev. Timothy Monahan, of Our Lady of Mercy parish, will conclude the program with the benediction.

The open house tour of the entire school by all parents and friends of students and the staff is scheduled to begin about 2:40 p.m. Faculty members will be in their classrooms, ready to answer all questions about the curriculum and facilities at hand.

Motive for their departure was not known.

Mary is described as 5-7 1/2, 140 pounds, blond hair, blue eyes, and of medium build. Florence is 5-8, 120 pounds, black hair, brown eyes, and of slender build.

Honor Andersen At Testimonial In San Rafael

Dan Andersen, former Daly City administrator and now city manager of San Rafael, will be honored at a testimonial dinner January 30 at the Traveler's Inn in San Rafael.

The fete is being sponsored by friends of Andersen in Daly City, headed by the committee of Dan Dolan, Tony Gaggero, Elmer Kennedy and Arthur Bodien. Bodien is chairman of the event, which will honor Andersen for his recent city manager appointment.

Transportation to the testimonial will be by bus, which will depart from the Westlake Lodge at 6 p.m. Tickets are $5, which includes meal and bus fare.

The official family of San Rafael will be invited as special guests by the Daly City group.

Attendance is limited to 100 and tickets should be purchased early, according to Bodien.

Those seeking tickets should contact Dolan at PL 5-3414, or any member of the committee.

Car Accidents, Injuries Hit Record In '57

Motor vehicle accidents and injuries soared to record heights in Daly City during 1957, according to a summary report released today by Sgt. Henry Sundermann, traffic inspector.

Sundermann logged 419 accidents into his books last year, with a total of 171 persons injured. By comparison, there were 389 accidents and 142 injuries during 1956.

Biggest incidence was collisions involving two or more vehicles. There were 342 of these, resulting in 123 injuries. In 1956, the figures were 313 and 94.

After two traffic deaths in 1956, the city returned to a fatality-free record last year.

Trustees Firm Bond Election Data Tonight

Date, size and approval of a record bond election this March are expected to be determined by Jefferson Elementary school trustees at their regular meeting this Wednesday night.

Mrs. J. D. White heads a district-appointed bond election committee which met Monday to make final recommendations.

The bond election, if successful, would mean no tax hikes, and would bring the district up to its capacity in order to acquire state aid on a four-year projection.

This Wednesday evening's board meeting begins at 8 o'clock in the superintendent's office, 48 Park Plaza drive, second floor. Public is encouraged to attend.

SCHOOL BOND COMMITTEE TO MEET MONDAY

"Citizens Committee For Needed Schools," organized to promote the Jefferson Elementary school district's March 21 bond election, will meet next Monday night, 8 o'clock, at the district office, 48 Park Plaza drive, second floor.

Mrs. J. D. White, committee chairman, urges all residents interested in the future of local schools to attend.

The March election is designed to secure voters' permission for the district to borrow state funds to build eight new schools on a four-year projection.

Persons interested in the bond committee are encouraged to call Mrs. White, JE 4-6523.

Pacifica's City Hall Faces 'Thorny' Crisis

Pacifica's first zoning application comes up for a vote this Wednesday.

The application, from Alexander Jama Realty, seeks to rezone a nine-lot parcel in Pacific Manor from C-1 to C-2.

The land up for rezoning houses Pacifica's temporary city hall. Jama renovated the building and offered it to the fledgling city free of charge for a temporary city hall.

Shortly after the city council got comfortably situated in their new headquarters, Jama submitted his application for rezoning.

County Tardy
Jama explains, however, that the zoning application had been before the county planning commission prior to the incorporation of Pacifica, but the county had been tardy in taking any action.

If the council approves the rezoning, Jama plans to erect a new automobile outlet on the property. This would mean the "eviction" of the city of Pacifica, since the formerly vacant building would probably be torn down. The new city would lose its temporary headquarters much sooner than officials had planned.

If the rezoning is denied, Jama could protest that he had been denied a reasonable use of his property. He might argue that the city turned down his application in order to preserve a temporary city hall.

Most of the sentiment on the Coastside appears to favor granting of the application, since the change from C-1 to C-2 is only minor from a zoning standpoint.

The Pacifica council will also appoint and swear-in a seven-man planning commission this Wednesday.

Could be that the Jama zoning will be the first official business turned over to the new planning commission.

strict court or petition the state supreme court for a hearing. The council took a "wait and see" attitude, but indications were that the decision would be appealed. Both the district and the supreme court can deny the council further hearing if they deem evidence insufficient.

Johnstone, who definitely plans to return to work with the police department, will probably not go back on duty until the 60-day period is up. What title he would hold is not known, since he was a patrolman at time of his dismissal but was receiving an inspector's salary, equivalent of sergeant's pay. Johnstone received $415 at time he was fired, but the equivalent job now pays $469.

Up To Council

City Attorney Paul Hupf said he was awaiting word from the council before preparing any petition to the district court of appeal or supreme court for a re-hearing.

"We felt we were in good shape, since the trial court had upheld us," said Hupf. Hupf said he thought a portion of the district court's 12-page opinion was "disconcerting." The ruling, while citing evidence as insufficient against Johnstone, declared that "in fairness we must state that the district attorney had grounds for his suspicions here."

"It can't be much consolation to Johnstone," Hupf continued, "to have the court say that the district attorney had grounds for suspicion. It puts him under a cloud."

Most of the appeals court decision dealt with an analysis of the evidence against Johnstone, which was described almost solely as "hearsay."

The city must ask for a re-hearing before the district court by January 17, and, if rejected, must petition the supreme court within 40 days from that time.

The reinstatement judgment will be filed 50 days after January 2. City Manager Howard Stites said he had no idea how much salary Johnstone had coming to him as a result of the reinstatement ruling. "The court will have to determine that," he said.

Stites said he did not imagine Johnstone would return to work for the city until the litigation is completed.

TV and Radio

By Mona Baker

PERSONALITY SKETCH... "Sing Hi—Sing Lo" is the intriguing title of a delightful new program which made its national television debut over KQED and 23 other non-commercial television stations throughout the United States this week. Starring charming Bash Kennett who accompanies himself on the guitar singing folk songs, the program portrays the history and growth of America in song, story and dance.

We were privileged to attend a press preview of the program last week and meet the lovely star—and indeed, charming she is! With sparkling brown eyes... a vivacious personality... an extremely talented vocalist... she is also a busy homemaker, mother of three young daughters, and wife of Dr. William Kennett, a prominent physician. The Kennetts live in San Carlos. A graduate of Mills College with a major in music, Bash has always been interested in folk music and has done a great deal of research on the subject. During the past six years she has appeared on many local programs including "The Looking Glass Lady" (KRON-TV) and featured singer on "The Bill Weaver Show" (KCBS Radio).

The format of the show is unique, and we think an extremely original way to present our American history, and make it appealing to youngsters. Using authentic props from museums all over the country, the program concentrates on one subject for each show, and many times originates on location where the history was made. "Sing Hi—Sing Lo" (Mon. and Wed., 4:30 p.m.) is carefully and skillfully produced and a thoroughly entertaining show for all ages!

CHILDREN'S CORNER

"Boys will be boys..." and the familiar saying seemed never more applicable than for one of the most entertaining "family situation" programs to come along for some time CES's "Leave It To Beaver" (KPIX, Fri., 6:30 p.m.). Two young men played by Jerry Mathers and Tony Down create typical situations that most harassed parents of small boys face sometime during their lives. We think you will find "Leave It To Beaver" a refreshing change from the usual run of domestic comedies.

OUTSTANDING DOCUMENTARY

We hope you didn't miss the special "See It Now" telecast last week which related by picture and song the recent tour of Marian Anderson in southeast Asia. As Miss Anderson's magnificent voice carried out over the vast throngs, the camera closeups of the intent faces told a story that a hundred words can't tell. At the close of the program it was announced that films of the telecast would be sent overseas, which is a fine goodwill gesture. However, we think copies of the documentary should also be available for showing again in this country. It is too bad that often such outstanding telecasts are shown once and then forgotten. We hope KPIX will be able to repeat the telecast soon, or possibly make films of the programs available to schools and other interested groups.

Tree Planting, Yule Program Top Agenda For Broadmoor Unit

A MOST VALUABLE REPORT

We wonder how much satisfaction the 1957 San Mateo county grand jury will get out of its weighty (some 70 pages) report submitted to Judge Aylett R. Cotton this week.

As with all such appointive bodies, a grand jury's life is ephemeral. A fresh new 1958 grand jury will be impaneled within a short time, to go about the business of finding out what's right and wrong in our county government.

Grand juries and their reports are top news for a while. But new juries have new ideas and investigate new facets of government. This is perhaps to the good.

But what will become of the 1957 grand jury report—probably one of the outstanding in the county's history.

While the jury probed with diligence into every county department, it did its best piece of spadework in the county engineer's department—a horrendous snarl of inept, if not illegal, budgetary and administrative activities.

The jury, following a check on the 1956 audit, found what they described as "strange irregularities" in the allocation of road funds.

During the fiscal years 1950-1956 the new road construction money (approximately $3,000,000) was spent in the 3rd and 4th districts which represent approximately 30 per cent of the registered voters.

And of this, $1,241,000 was spent on the now infamous La Honda road, which carries one of the smallest traffic counts in the county.

It was further discovered that the budget allocation of this money had not been authorized by the board of supervisors.

These discrepancies, and many others, led to formal accusations against the county supervisors and county manager. The accusations were subsequently dropped after the court declared that while supervisors were perhaps negligent, they were not guilty of misconduct.

The jury's report should have considerable effect over the spending of road funds and the supervision given these funds by the county board and manager.

The method of electing county supervisors and the boundaries of the supervisorial districts were also a target of the inquiry group.

These, and many other activities of San Mateo county government were aptly investigated by the 1957 grand jury.

The 1958 grand jury will be derelict if it does not make profitable use of its predecessor's most valuable report to the people.

Westmoor Dance Group Opens Winter Classes

Winter dancing classes will begin for the Westmoor Dance Group this Thursday under the tutelage of Judith Modell and Charles Hulse. This winter term consists of 10 weeks and will be concluded on March 13 with an evening dance recital.

Miss Modell instructs the ballet and women's exercise classes. She is well known in the bay area as she has danced extensively with many ballet groups and studied at the San Francisco School of Ballet. Judy began her professional dancing career with the San Francisco Ballet Company at the age of 17.

Creative dancing and tumbling will again be taught by Hulse, who is well trained in the Dick Ford creative dance techniques and theories. He has appeared in the San Francisco Municipal Theatre and Straw Hat Theatre, Inc., in addition to television appearances and moving picture roles.

For information concerning entrance into any of the dance or tumbling groups, contact Mrs. Joseph Elliott, PL 5-3218, coordinator, or any of the chairmen listed below:

Broadmoor Community Center—Charles Hulse, instructor. Pre-school, 10:30 a.m., Mrs. David Feld, PL 6-3617; pre-school, 11:15 a.m., Mrs. Clifford Glickman, PL 6-3266; kindergarten, 2:30 p.m., Mrs. Monroe Kroll, JU 5-9746; technique 1 (1st and 2nd grades) 3:15 p.m., Mrs. Charles McCarthy; kindergarten, 4 p.m., Mrs. Edward

chairman; and John Coleman, institutional representative. (second row) Vince De Bono and Richard Verducci, assistant Scoutmaster; and at top, Lyle Church. Others instrumental in forming the new Scout troop but not shown are Frank Tardelli and Battalion Chiefs Mel Hanson and Frank Specht.

Pacific Will Name Manager Wednesday

Pacific will name its first city manager this Wednesday night, Mayor Jean Fassler revealed today.

The administrative head of San Mateo county's newest city will receive a starting salary of $9500. He will report for work February 3.

Mrs. Fassler said that one of the city manager's first duties will be to hire personnel and establish administrative procedure in the new city, incorporated on November 22, 1957.

Appointment of a city treasurer is also expected within a week. Up to now, the city is operating without a budget. Chief expenditure is the payroll for some eight workers formerly employed by the sanitary district, which has been absorbed by Pacific.

Two For Tonight

By Lenore Brewer

"Raintree County," one of the big pictures of 1957, opened Christmas Day at the Stage Door, and the last time we went by, the line indicated it'll probably still be there next Christmas.

To reduce "Raintree" to its simplest form, it is a triangle, involving Montgomery Clift, a poet and dreamer and not too strong on drive, Eva Marie Saint, the girl he grew up with and was destined for, and Elizabeth Taylor, a honey-voiced Southern belle who snares him with a lie. It's a time-honored and also time-worn theme but this particular version comes off high, wide and handsome.

The story is much too long and involved to detail here, and anyway it wouldn't be fair to tell you who gets Monty in the end, but we can say that it has just about everything.

Quiet Life

It begins in Indiana in 1859 and the opening scene shows the Professor (Nigel Patrick) taking the annual class picture in a small town. This is one of those scenes that give one a brief glimpse of a way of life that from where we stand seems to have been so unassuming and secure and quietly joyous, that we envy those who lived it.

But since this is 1859, all this peace is only on the surface. Underneath are the raging emotions aroused by the slavery question which finally blazed forth in our great national tragedy, the Civil War. Monty and Elizabeth of course are caught up in it, and so are several of the minor characters.

Saintly Eva

Miss Saint does a good job, acting as her name implies; Liz treads with fine feeling the thin line between sanity and madness and Monty stands between the two, determined to do the right thing by his conscience. Actually, the most interesting performer is Nigel Patrick as the Professor, and he injects his own brand of wit into his every scene.

Inevitably, "Raintree" is going to be compared with "Gone With The Wind." "Raintree" is a beautiful picture, and thanks to its historical setting, restrained performances, and general production excellence it will be brought back successfully for years to come. But let's face it, it's not another "G.W.T.W." Its characters lack that drive and single-minded purpose that capture the imagination of an audience. And those who remember the terrible retreat from Atlanta in the former film, will find the present version so watered down it comes out a poor second to the daily 5 p.m. exodus from San Francisco.

The Navy is experimenting with a new method of launching its supersonic fighter planes. It is a turbo-catapult, powered by six jet engines, developing 60,000 horsepower.

National Journal Praises Francis For Legislation

State Assemblyman Louis Francis has won national recognition and prestige for San Mateo county as the author of California's new drunk driving laws in this month's issue of Listen magazine, a national bi-monthly journal of better living.

The magazine featured Francis in an article entitled "California Moves Against Murder on the Highway." The caption with Francis' picture identified him as San Mateo county's state legislator and author of California's stringent new laws to tighten the noose on drunk driving.

Under the Francis Act, the imprisonment provisions for felony drunk driving, involving serious injury to another person, is a term in state prison for not less than one nor more than five years, or in the county jail for not less than 90 days nor more than one year. In addition, the new statute also provides for a mandatory fine of not less than $250 nor more than $5000, as contrasted with the previous optional fine of not less than $200 nor more than $5000.

The new law also provides misdemeanor drunk driving is punishable upon a first conviction by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than 30 days nor more than six months or by fine of not less than $250 or more than $500, or by both.

The Francis Act calls for punishment for a second or subsequent conviction of imprisonment in the county jail for not less than five days nor more than one year and by a mandatory fine of not less than $260 nor more than $1000. The bill further provides that persons convicted of a second or subsequent offense shall not be granted probation or have their sentences suspended by the court.

Motorists Jam DMV Offices For '58 Tags

The fastest auto registration renewal in the history of the State Department of Motor Vehicles was in the making today, as the 1958 registration entered its second week.

Many of the nearly 400 DMV permanent and temporary stations reported a record volume for the first five days of the renewal period, which started January 2.

"Motorists have learned from past experience that to put off renewing the registration on their cars can only lead to the discomfort of standing in line as the renewal deadline approaches," observed State Motor Vehicle Director Paul Mason.

Last year, Mason said, thousands of vehicle owners delayed beyond the statutory February 4 deadline, with the result that they were faced with the necessity of paying heavy penalties. The motor vehicle director stressed once again these cardinal rules for trouble-free registration.

1—Do not separate the two parts of the fee statement card received in the mail by owners ment in the county jail for not less than five days nor more than one year and by a mandatory fine of not less than $260 nor more than $1000. The bill further provides that persons convicted of a second or subsequent offense shall not be granted probation or have their sentences suspended by the court.

Teenage Clubs Get Together For Big Dance

This Saturday, January 11, the Misbe-Haven and Westerns clubs will jointly sponsor a dance, to be held at Westlake Park clubhouse starting at 8 p.m. Members of both organizations will be admitted free, while their guests will be charged 35 cents. Dancing will come to a close at 11:15 p.m.

This dance is the first activity to kick-off many events planned for 1958 by both organizations. A spaghetti feed, hay ride, barn dance, bowling party, and a picnic are just a segment of the many activities that will make membership in either organization worthwhile.

Next activity of both clubs is a skating party on Saturday, January 25. Information concerning this event will be available at a later date.

of all previously registered vehicles.

2—Pay only the 1958 fees, ignoring the boxed figure for the 1959 fees which appears on the stub of the fee statement card for future reference only.

3—The most convenient method of renewing is to visit the nearest DMV station in person. The owner then receives the green 1958 sticker for the rear license plate, with the new registration card for the steering post.

Veterans News

By Grace J. Hill

By Grace Hill

The new year's mail brings to thousands of veterans, their widows and dependent children, an annual income questionnaire from the Veterans' Administration. Assistance in filling out this form is offered by Floyd D. Granger, San Mateo County Veterans' Service Officer, who points out that pensions are likely to be discontinued to those who don't answer to the Veterans Administration's satisfaction.

Pensions — as distinguished from compensation — are payable to veterans who qualify as totally and permanently disabled — under the Veterans' Administration's definition — due to injuries or ailments not traceable to military service. Certain widows and children of deceased ex-servicemen are also eligible for small pensions, if the veteran on whom they were dependent died of non-service causes.

To be eligible, a single person may have a non-pension income no larger than $1400 per year; the income of those with dependents may not exceed $2700 per year.

Granger pointed out that the Vet Administration's rules as to what is or is not income are not always easy to understand. These rules cover such things as retirement pay, social security, life insurance, proceeds from rent or sale of property, returns from past or present business and professional pursuits, etc.

Pensioners must remember that if their incomes give signs of exceeding the legal limits any time during the coming year, they must notify the VA right away—and not wait until their income has actually reached the legal limit.

"Veterans and dependents in San Mateo county," said Granger, "are entitled to the assistance of this office when filling out the questionnaire, and at any time in the year when income problems arise."

The 26th District American Legion Auxiliary will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening, January 9, in Burlingame Legion Hall. Plans will be made for the special events coming up during the spring months, including the Department President's visit and the Past District Presidents' dinner. Auxiliary members will assist the American Legion in the Blue Crutch drive soon to be launched.

American War Mothers will resume their regular ward parties at Ft. Miley hospital soon. The next meeting will be held Thursday evening, January 23.

Brisbane Post 473, American Legion, will hold its regular Saturday evening dance, January 11. Friends are invited.

Daily City Unit 410, American Legion Auxiliary, will hold its next meeting Wednesday evening, January 15.

All Units and Posts in the American Legion are concentrating on a final membership drive for National Citations. Quotas must be met by January 27. As Congress meets this month, all eligible veterans should join. Many items of interest and benefit to the veterans will come before Congress, and unless united effort is put forth many of the present benefits will be canceled. Think it over!

INVITATIONS to the fourth annual fashion show and luncheon are addressed by Mrs. Thomas O'Brien (left) and Mrs. Milton Reiterman of the Westlake Catholic Women. The social event will be held February 1 in the gold and nob hill rooms of the Fairmont hotel. Proceeds will benefit Our Lady of Mercy building fund. John Kilday photo

LINES are beginning to mount at the Motor Vehicle Office in Westlake as residents flock to get their 1958 licenses and registration cards. Manager Leon Elie expects about 26,000 folks to go through the process before the February 4 deadline.

Response thus far has been very good, but DMV officials expect the usual last-minute rush. Persons who come in after the deadline are subject to fine. The Southgate office is open Monday to Saturday noon. THE RECORD photo

TWEEDIE REVIEWS '57

Annual Congregational Meeting Is This Thursday In Broadmoor

The annual Congregational Meeting of Broadmoor Presbyterian church will be held this Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church social hall. The Rev. Herbert Tweedie, minister of the 87th street church, announced the meeting from the pulpit the last two Sundays, in accordance with church law.

At the meeting, the past year's activities will be reviewed, department by department. In addition, four new elders will be elected, taking the positions of three retiring elders, and one who is moving from the area. Those whose terms have expired are: James Fairbanks, Dr. Mayo Bryce, and H. Z. Weibel. Glenn Hawley, former superintendent of the church school, has turned in his resignation due to moving down the Peninsula.

The anticipated budget for 1958 will be presented by the finance committee, headed by Weibel.

Pastor Tweedie, in a brief review of the 1957 church year, commented:

"This year has been a most expansive one in the life of our church. When 1957 began, the new sanctuary was right in the middle of building. Rev. Glaspe, who founded the Broadmoor Presbyterian church, was moving to a different ministry, and Dr. William Harberts had been called to perform as interim pastor, beginning February 1. A pastor-seeking committee was formed, headed by Hawley. Dr. Harberts preached the first sermon in the new Sanctuary on Palm Sunday last year. Then, beginning Sept. 1 of last year, I was called from my ministry in Roseville to be the new minister here. Dr. Harberts was asked to be interim-pastor in Roseville, but before he could assume his duties he was taken ill. At present he is recovering from his illness at his home in Berkeley. I know that his many friends in Daly City and Broadmoor would like to drop him a card or letter to 1311 Milvia street, in Berkeley."

Tweedie went on to announce that the Sunday School now has over 600 children enrolled, necessitating double sessions. The first session from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., and the second from 11 to 12 a.m. "All the departments are extremely busy," he said, pointing out the successful year of the adult choir, culminating in their winning the adult division of the Christmas Choral Contest, sponsored by the Broadmoor Property Owner's Association.

"The Men's Association, known as the Village Churchmen, has been active in work projects around the church, building bazaar booths, sponsoring an Explorer Post of the Scouts, and looking forward in the spring to a musical variety show," Tweedie continued.

"In 1953 the men put on a show, a minstrel-type affair, which is still remembered, at least by those members who participated, and their president, Collins Orton, says that there's a lot more talent in the church than there was then."

'Delinquency' Topic For Parent Education Session

"Will Your Child Be A Juvenile Delinquent?"

Brig. Margaret Cox of the Salvation Army says there are warning signs in children that indicate they may be headed for trouble. If these warnings are heeded and help given the child when he is young, delinquency is more likely to be avoided, she said.

Brig. Cox will be at the home of Mrs. Ralph Sylvester, 21 Belmont drive, on Friday, January 17, from 10 to 11 a.m. for the second parent-education session of the Westlake-Olympia PTA. She is a graduate of the University of California in child psychology and has had 33 years practical experience with parents and children. For the past 12 years she has been counsellor for unwed mothers in eleven western states. After an informal talk, she will answer questions. Refreshments will be served.

Colma Thespians Present Drama

Recently students of Colma seventh and eighth grades enjoyed the first presentation of the Drama club, an activity sponsored by Matthew Grafney, instructor at the school.

The play "Way, Way Down East" was an old fashioned melodrama complete with handsome hero, beautiful heroine, and a thoroughly nasty villain.

The characters participating in the melodrama were: Hepzibah Ludlow, the sweet mother, portrayed by Peggy Bass; Ezekiel Ludlow, the good father, portrayed by Steve Elliott; Lily Ludlow, the beautiful daughter, portrayed by Pamela Burch.

Henrietta, the hired girl, was played by Laury Jaspovice; and Ronald Fitzwilliam, the handsome hero, was played by Chad Reade.

Gordon Broadbent portrayed the dyed-in-the-wool villain, Tedious J. Impossible. William P. McNasty, Impossible's wicked partner, was played by Sam Freitas. Bertram J. Moneybags, the kindly railroad president, was played by Sandy Schoenfeld. Narrator for the play was Frances Utterback.

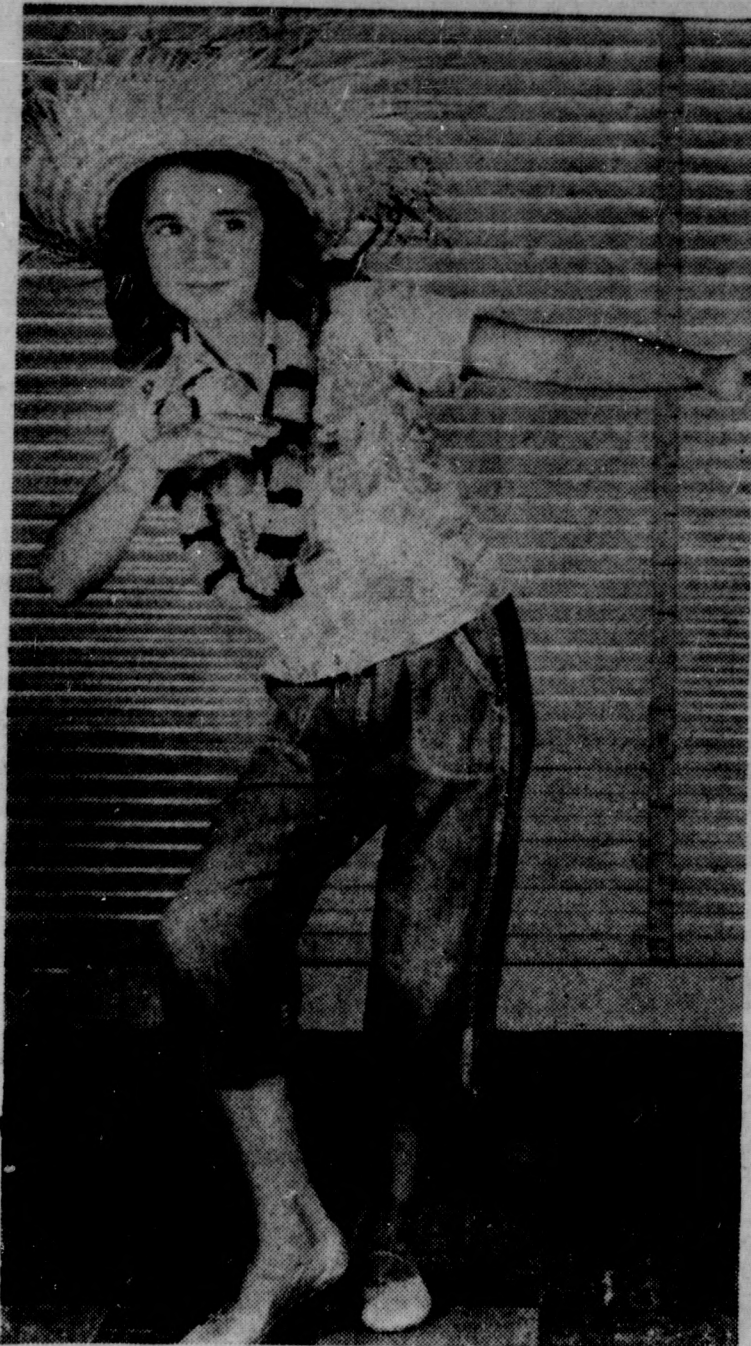

Lee Baldelli and Nancy O'Toole acted as prompters, and Betty Fontenot and Dolores Garcia stimulated the audience to appropriate cheers and hisses.

Marilyn Durbin, Jeanne Moore, and Pat Tiedge assisted with props and set design. The stage crew was made up of Alan Rowley and Robert Silber, son.

NEW CLASSES LISTED

Still Time To Enroll In Jeff Adult School

The adult classes buzzed with activity as students returned to their studies this week after an extended vacation.

Although only four weeks remain in this semester, classes are so organized that with few exceptions registrations are still being accepted. It is still not too late to register for the first time at any of the six campuses operated by the district.

Registration procedure is simple. Anyone interested in any of the two dozen classes need only to appear in the class of their choice, fill out the application form and begin their education that same evening. Full information of the classes offered may be had by phoning the district office, PL 5-1162.

Three new classes are slated to swing into action as soon as sufficient registrations are obtained at the district office. Slated for Linda Mar on Monday evenings is a course in Public Speaking which will probably begin on the 13th, a course in First Aid to be given at the Jefferson campus for 12 weeks, and a six-week course in office machine practice and theory. Registrations are being accepted at the district office for these courses.

There are still openings available for the Driver Education course to start this Monday at Jefferson High campus. After this week, registrations will be accepted for the fifth session which will begin on February 17.

B'nai Israel Men In 'Omniibus' Meet On Three Subjects

The next regular meeting of the Mens Club of Congregation B'nai Israel will be an omniibus affair. Three members of the group will present talks on three entirely different subjects.

Bernard Rubin, an ardent sports fan and manager of a Little League baseball team, will elaborate on "the prospects of baseball for 1958." He will also explain what fathers can do to help their sons with the sport.

Sig Adler will then give details on stamp collecting, considered by many to be the world's greatest hobby. An exhibit of photographs of famous stamps will be on hand.

Kurt Goldstrum will keep his topic confined to veterans' rehabilitation. His talk will cover points of manufacture and aid of plastic limbs to disabled veterans. Goldstrum is an employee of the Veterans' Administration.

On the business side of the meeting, President Ernest Hartmann will present a constitution for adoption.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, January 16, at 8:15 p.m., and will be held at the Temple House of B'nai Israel, 37 Los Banos in Daly City. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

Westlake-Olympia PTA Schedules 'Fathers' Night'

Westlake-Olympia PTA has scheduled a busy "Fathers' Night" meeting for this Thursday evening at Olympia school.

Featured will be a panel discussion, headed by Peter J. Markovich, chamber member and insurance man. Panel topic will be "Through Educational and Recreational Needs."

Typical questions to be asked are these of Mrs. Bobby Cohn, Westlake-Olympia PTA president:

Are you happy with the school situation?

Do you like double sessions? Are there changes you would like to see?

Does Johnny's teacher understand him and do you understand her?

The unit's nominating committee will be nominated and elected for nomination of officers for the 1958-59 executive board.

Maueul Demarest will be chairman for the fathers, who will serve refreshments.

A likely special guest is Forrest Tucker, movie and TV star who has been invited to the meeting by his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Cohn.

Announce Models For Fashion Show

A highlight of the monthly meeting of the Westlake Catholic Women next Monday evening will be the announcement of the ladies chosen to model in the group's forthcoming Fashion Show and Luncheon on February 1 at the Fairmont hotel.

Details of the March rummage sale will also be discussed, with the emphasis on the need to start saving items now and gathering rummage from friends who may be starting spring cleaning now.

A $25 merchandise order donated by Galli Furniture Co. will be awarded to one of the ladies at the meeting.

Mrs. James Storman, Mrs. James McGowan, Mrs. Charles Boerio and Mrs. Frank Coghlan of the hospitality committee will be welcoming newcomers to the meeting, which is held in the parish hall following the 8 p.m. Novena to Our Lady of Perpetual Help at Our Lady of Mercy church.

FRANCIS URGES 'IMPROVEMENTS' TO S. M. BRIDGE

Strong support was promised today by State Assemblyman Louis Francis to the San Mateo Chamber of Commerce in its drive for "immediate action to correct traffic congestion" on the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge. He suggested an early conference at the State Capitol with the state director of public works as the best "short-cut for quick solutions."

Rams Duel SSF In P. L. Opener

Giammona Steers Hopeful Varsity To Warriorville For Lid-Lifter

By Roy Hurlbert

Westmoor High's Rams of Daly City are even money to open their 1958 Peninsula League basketball campaign victoriously this Friday night when the varsity and 30's squads meet South City in the Warrior gym.

First game between the new rivals starts at 7:30.

Making their debut in the league, the Rams have typical first-year shortcomings, plus a lack of height—always a drawback.

Coach Tony Giammona, however, expects the most from his nucleus of good-shooting hustlers.

Starting Five

For the cork popper, Giammona will start a varsity five of forwards Gary Twitty and Larry Harper, center Larry Schoenfeldt (the biggest at 6-3), and guards Bill Dougherty and Ross Holmgren.

Harper and Schoenfeldt do most of the backboard work for the Rams, while their three partners carry the offensive load.

Dougherty, a soph, and Holmgren, a junior, are two of the most promising players in the circuit. Both boys are exceptional on the long ones. Twitty, likewise, is equipped to explode with a hot effort.

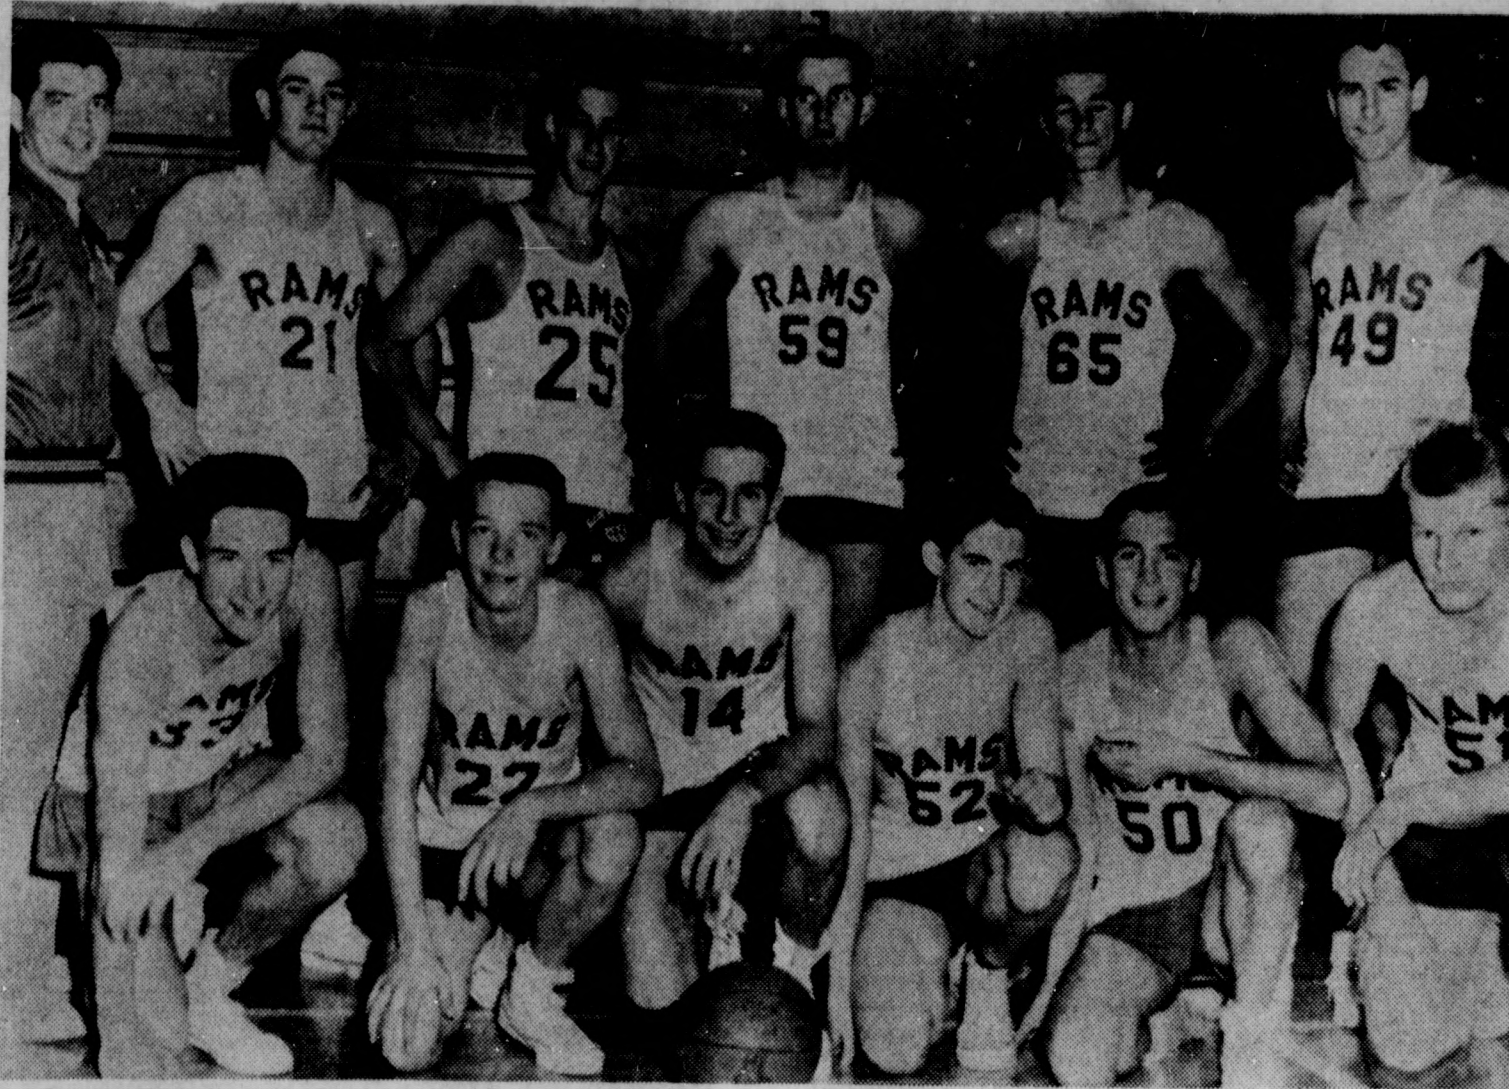

Next week, on Tuesday afternoon, Giammona's crew plays host to San Mateo. On Friday, January 17, the Rams entertain city-rival Jefferson, with tipoff set for 7:30 p.m.

Byron Van Alstyne's Westmoor 30's, not too impressive to date, but improving, open Friday evening with Wayne Moon at center, Jim Heick and Roger Piazza at guards, and Bob Goodwin and Bill Fossberry at forwards.

The Ram varsity dropped its fifth game in six practice starts last Friday, a 36-35 close to Tamalpais High, at the Westmoor gym. Holmgren led the attack with 13 points, trailed by Dave Simons with 8. The winners held the upper hand at halftime, 21-17.

Van Alstyne's 30's also were nipped, 30-28, for their fourth loss in six scrambles. Fossberry was high with 8 points.

OPEN LEAGUE CAMPAIGN FRIDAY

BASKETBALL

Franklin, Colma, OLPH Teams Grab City Rec League Leads

Ben Franklin's sixth grade Falcons, Colma's seventh graders, and OLPH's eighth graders rolled up second wins Saturday to lead the city-sponsored basketball leagues at War Memorial building.

The Falcons assumed first place in the Sixth Grade League by tripping Our Lady of Mercy, 18-16. Bruce Hix's 25-footer in overtime won the game. The losers led, 3-2, at the end of the tightly played first half.

Ron Johnson was top Falcon with 6 points. Steve Milam had 5, Bruce Hix 3, and Ed Perry and Jimmy Orlich each tallied 2.

Colma took over the seventh grade lead by downing Our Lady of Mercy, 27-16, while War Memorial broke into action with a 21-13 win over favored OLPH.

Walt Pickering scored 11 points for the War Memorial squad. Bill Ellis, with 6, was tops for OLPH.

Dan Hermasillo was deadly again as his 16 points paced Colma past the OLM quint. Chris Trapani had 9 points for the parishioners.

OLM won by forfeit over Colma.

The Police Athletic League entry made its debut in the Eighth Grade League a winning one, outlasting St. James, 32-30. Ron Montoya, with 14, and Jim Francis, with 13, shared scoring honors for the PALS. K. Coughlan got 10 for St. James.

OLPH's eighth graders easily disposed of Crocker, 46-15, with Rich Fenn and Bob Brush booming the attack.

Pete Pollat's 17 points helped Olympia school romp over Frankfort park, 39-23. Denny Santiago connected for 12 points in the losing cause.

OLM won by forfeit over Colma.

Indians Host SF Cagers In Final Warmup

Capable of taking all the marbles in the 1958 Peninsula League race, Jefferson's varsity cagers engage in a final tune-up this Friday. The foe will be the usually strong Eagles of Washington High, with the first game tipoff at 3 o'clock in the Jeff gym.

PL play opens this Friday on three fronts, but Coach Mike Orlich's Injuns have a bye. The Daly City five lift the lid the hard way next Tuesday afternoon when they tangle with co-favorite Capuchino in San Bruno. The following Friday, Jeff goes against Westmoor in a night tilt, beginning at 7:15.

High Rating

With the 7-3 practice record and the Palo Alto Invitational title tucked away, Orlich's squad is rated 11th best in all of Northern California.

Mike has a solid first five, backed by four outstanding reserves who will be pressing the regulars all the way.

Center Dennis Marc, 6-5, and deadly guard Gary Ryan are the pacemakers. Both have bombarded the hoop with brisk regularity in early season. At forwards are Puzzy Firth and Ernie Howren, two quick drivers. Barry Haanen rounds out the starting unit at the other guard slot.

Pushing the first quint are Wayne Lewis and Bob Berry at forwards, center Peter Garcia, and Roy Reitz. Each has the tools to go full-time.

Marc is Orlich's lone big boy, the rest depending on speed and shooting skills to offset the height disadvantage they will be facing season-long.

Capuchino, Burlingame and Hillsdale all look good on paper. Westmoor, San Mateo and South City are the question marks.

Burlingame, paced by a 6-6 center, won the title last year, with Jeff second, thanks mainly to forward Larry Pottinger.

Watso's Quint, Indians Sweep Cage Openers

Watso's Rockets and the Indians scored wins Monday night in opening action of the city recreation department's High School Basketball League.

The Rockets, led by Barsotti's 14 points, dumped the Hawks, 36-31. Reece got 10 points for the birds.

Mortola headed the Indians' 45-16 triumph by tanking 12. Crowhurst had 6 for the losing Colma Cats.

Games in the eight-team loop are held on Monday and Wednesday nights at War Memorial building.

Players are boys of high school age who do not play on school teams.

Selmi Captures First Place In Skin-Diving Meet

Twenty members of the Se Lions of San Mateo county splashed in the waters off Carmel Beach last Saturday in skin-diving competition.

Club president Richard Selmi won first place trophy trailed by Leo Herrera, Paul Ferriera, Mike Woods, Bruce Selmi and Ray Patterson. The latter two tied for fifth place.

Carmel Beach was chosen because the Pedro Point area was "sucked" by bad weather.

The divers were a little nervous because three real sea lions splashed to within sight of the competition area.
